Mayor Carey Tells His Side of Case in Veto of Council's Resolution

None in Interview Says He Knew Veto Couldn't Be Acted Upon as Special Session Has Wanted New Resolution to Put Things in Order.

Mayor Eugene B. Carey was interviewed at his office in the City Hall by a reporter for The Freeman this evening in order that he could clarify his position in reference to his veto of the resolution adopted by the Common Council on December 5, in reference to the local Civil Works Administration, as it appears there are many versions of the matter.

Mayor Carey believed, according to his judgment, that it was incumbent upon him to veto the resolution of the Common Council, dated December 5, 1933, because it granted unconstitutional powers and authority in that the resolution gave unlimited authority to spend money to be later raised by bonds, certificates of indebtedness, or placing the entire amount in the budget without referring the resolution to the Finance, Ways and Means Committee of the Common Council as required by rule.

Mayor Carey said that from a personal visit to the office of the Civil Works Administration he found out that the city will have to raise at least $250,000 to carry out its part of the project, and he believes that that is too vast a sum to oblige the taxpayers for without using diligence and care in the appropriation and expenditure thereof. Mayor Carey further said that when he vetoed the resolution he was aware that his veto could not be acted upon by the Common Council neither at the next regular meeting of that body nor at any future meeting thereof, as the charter provides that a veto can be acted upon only at the next regular meeting of the council and by the council then in office. Under the conditions of the city charter his veto is absolute; no one and no future Common Council can override it, he said. That is why, he says, that he called a special meeting of the council last Friday night, not to act on his veto, because it could not be done, but for the purpose of giving a member of the Common Council an opportunity to introduce another resolution that was proper in form and procedure. Mayor Carey said that the presiding officer of the Common Council erred when he ruled that the mayor's veto was out of order and could not be considered at the special meeting. Mayor Carey said that his veto was not before the meeting and was not an order of business, because of the conditions of the city charter as heretofore explained.

He further said that "a colossal blunder has been enacted" and believes it never would have occurred had the Civil Works Administration taken counsel in the matter. The mayor said that he wished to recall to the minds of the people how he had to fight the minority members of the Common Council last January and practically force them to vote even a dollar for materials to carry out the projects of the Emergency Work Relief Bureau. Now that the tide is turned those same men without hesitation obligate themselves to an unknown extent, which in the end will amount to at least a quarter of a million dollars, for materials, supplies and other things, and they evidently care not how it is done," he stated.

Mayor Carey wished it understood that all his veto of the resolution was not to stop work. In his communication to the city clerk calling the council into special meeting last Friday night, he directed that all projects be continued until the council could meet and legalize the expenditures for materials, et cetera, at a special meeting of the council which he called for that purpose.

SERIOUSLY INJURED IN PLANE CRASH NEAR ROUGHKEEPSIE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP).—One man was in a hospital here today seriously injured and another man was slightly bruised and cut as the result of an airplane crash three miles south of Poughkeepsie late yesterday.

Frederick Gohl, 47, of (161 Second street), Mineola, L. I., suffered a cerebral concussion and numerous bruises and lacerations. His companion, Kenneth Webb, 26, of Bayside, L. I., who was piloting the plane, received a bruised hip but did not enter the hospital.

They crashed when Webb last night as he sought a higher altitude to avoid the heavy fog above the Hudson River. Webb declined to say what their destination was.

ROCHESTER SHIPMASTER TAKES LIFE AFTER BOAT FOUNDERS

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—The American Export Line received word today that A. T. Hickey, master of the steamer Exarch, committed suicide early yesterday after his ship had gone ashore on the coast of Cyprus.

Hickey, who was born in 1886 and was unmarried, lived in Rochester, N. Y. Public intoxication.

Thomas Sheehan of Ruby was arrested Saturday afternoon at the West Shore station on a charge of public intoxication. He was fined $5 in police court today by Judge Calloton. Edward Carroll, 51, who told the police he had no home, was also arrested on Saturday for public intoxication on Broadway. He was sentenced to five days in jail.

Dutch Syncopation of "Lena, Mijn Lena" As Pictured in The Junior League Revue

Holland is noted for quaintness of native costumes, and the naturally picturesque quality of her country-side, rather than for chic or artful beauty; but when Holland is touched by Paris, the result is irresistible. The idea of the third scene of the Junior League Revue to be given in the Broadway Theatre the night of December 20, was taken in its entirety from the Dolly Sisters' Cabaret Show in Paris. Here Dutch costumes acquire smartness while losing none of their charm, and the canals and windmills make a delightful background for a charmingly clumsy wooden shoe dance, as Lena and her Dutchman leisurely pursue their courtship.

The feeling of freshness gained by the use of blue and white exclusively will make this one of the most artistic and unique acts in the Revue.

In direct contrast to this is the number following it sung by Mrs. Chase Crowley, well known concert vocalist. Her song, "Lady, You Must Keep Him Guessing", has all the sophistication of a modern metropolis, and is the advice of a young matron to a bewildered deb just stepping out into the world.

The part of the deb is sung by Ruth Morris, following which Harriet Carlton of Stone Ridge, formerly appearing in many New York shows, does a beautifully syncopated soft shoe dance.

All proceeds from this varied and colorful performance are used for the maintenance of the Junior League Health Station for mothers and babies at 36 Meadow street, the only service of this type in the city.

Scarnici Jury Gets Lashing From Judge; New Trial In January

Judge Accuses Jurors of Fear in Not Doing Duty—Calls Conductor Disgraceful—Shore and Reino to Answer Brooklyn Robbery Charge.

Troy, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP).—A jury that sat for nearly 25 hours failing to agree on his guilt or innocence, Leonard Scarnici, New York gang leader, remained under heavy guard in the Rensselaer county jail today awaiting a new trial January 8 for the murder of Detective James Stevens of Rensselaer.

Meanwhile his two companions, Anthony Reino and Charles Shore, acquitted of the same charge, were enroute to New York city in custody of three detectives to face trial on charges of first degree robbery. They were rearrested on warrants immediately after the jury freed them late Saturday.

The three had been on trial 18 days for the murder of the police officer slain in a gun battle with robbers fleeing a Rensselaer bank last May 29. They also had been mentioned by authorities as having been connected with the kidnapping of John J. O'Connell, Jr., nephew of Ed and Dan O'Connell, powerful Albany Democrats.

Judge James F. Brearton in a stinging rebuke which questioned their honesty and challenged their bravery accused some members of the jury of being inspired "by improper motives." He said the disagreement was incomprehensible unless you have been motivated by fear.

"It is the failure of juries to do their duty in cases of this kind that is fast undermining the confidence of the public in the jury system," he told the jurors.

"Judges are nothing if juries fail to do their duty. Your failure to do your duty in this case is disgraceful."

Held For Bank Robbery

New York, Dec. 18 (AP).—Two ex-convicts who were acquitted last week in Troy, N. Y., of complicity in the murder of a policeman were in the police lineup today accused of taking part in a $10,000 robbery of the Benson Hurst National Bank in Brooklyn in September, 1932.

The men, Charles Shore and Anthony Reino, denied the charges. Police said witnesses had picked their photographs from the rogues gallery.

Mackey Fined $50 In Police Court

The first automobile driver arrested for driving a car while intoxicated since recent laws went into effect was Scott Mackey, 37, who said he resided at 123 North Front street. He was arrested on North Front street Saturday evening by Officer Hess who caught him driving an old Model T Ford roadster. This morning in police court Mackey pleaded guilty to the charge of driving a car while intoxicated and was fined $50 and Judge Calloton also revoked Mackey's driving license for a period of six months.

CWA Starts Work Of Taking The School Census In Kingston

Fourteen Women Placed at Work as Enumerators Making House to House Calls and Listing Names and Ages of Children Under 18 in City —250 Men Go to Work.

The work of taking the school census of the city, an approved local CWA project, was started this morning when 14 women were given the job of making house to house calls and listing the names of all children under the age of 18 years. This is a project that the board of education was desirous of having undertaken, and was approved by the State CWA as it would afford work to women.

The idea of the census is that it will give the education board figures from which it will be easily ascertained the number of children that are attending school and who will attend school in the years to come. The education board when the figures are compiled will be in a position to know definitely just how many children there are in the city under the age of 18.

The CWA and the education board are urging all householders to cooperate with the enumerators and allow them to enter the house and jot down the required information.

More Men at Work

This morning an additional 250 men were placed at work on various projects in the city. It was planned to place 400 men at work this morning but weather conditions were such that the engineers were not able to complete laying out the sewer lines and grades owing to the ice, and another reason was that there was a shortage of equipment to use. This condition exists all over the state owing to the many CWA projects started. As soon as the necessary tools and other equipment are received the working force will be largely increased until the full quota of 1,200 is reached. Today there were nearly 900 men employed.

Mackey, 37, of (161 Second street), Mineola, L. I., suffered a cerebral concussion and numerous bruises and lacerations. His companion, Kenneth Webb, 26, of Bayside, L. I., who was piloting the plane, received a bruised hip but did not enter the hospital.

Mencken Refuses Oath Believing in No God, Defendants Go Free

Although Baltimore's Fiery Man of Letters Can Nab Disturbers He Can't Testify Against Them—Shouts Release Order at Judge.

Baltimore, Dec. 18 (AP).—Henry L. Mencken can nab a couple of disturbers and get them into police court but he can not testify against them. The constitution of Maryland, he pointed out, provides that to testify under oath, one must believe in a God who damns sinners forever.

"I don't," said the sage of Baltimore.

Well, Mencken did not testify against J. R. Coe of Washington and Thomas C. Pinkerton of Baltimore yesterday but he had them sign releases in consideration of dropping of charges of disorderly conduct and assault.

Mencken, Baltimore fiery man of letters; his guest, Alfred Knopf, the publisher, and members of the Saturday Night Club were holding their usual meeting in a rear room of Schellhases' Restaurant, discussing Bach and other genial problems and drinking beer.

Their deliberations were interrupted by the intrusion of Coe and Pinkerton. The proprietor, who had been serving the two with drinks for some time, saw them reading "War and Fascism." And overheard—War, they hated it! Fascism, what a mockery!

The approach of the two uninvited guests was stopped by Dr. H. E. Buchholz, secretary, major domo and sergeant-at-arms of the club, but he was felled by a blow to the ear, which gushed blood. There was more blood, tables were upset and beer was spilled.

Mencken chased the intruders into the street, nabbed both of them and then turned them over to the police. The Saturday Night Club members were up early Sunday morning for the case in court, but Mencken could not testify so Dr. Buchholz was asked to drop his charges.

"He's got to get a release," shouted Mencken. "If they're communists, I don't trust them and they'll go back to Washington and claim they won a victory."

The releases were signed and the case was over.

Tavern Owner Killed In Brooklyn "Holdup"

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP).—Six beer-drinkers thought it was a holdup when two gunmen strode today into a Brooklyn tavern called the Cave.

The patrons got ready to hand over their money, but the gunmen shouted:

"This is no stickup. Sit still!"

Pointing their guns at Angelo Fazzinga, proprietor, they forced him to walk toward a rear room. As he walked, they shot him in the back and killed him. Then they ran out.

The fact that the tavern recently changed its brand of beer may have had something to do with the murder, Detective Charles Faiano said.

Agricultural Society Elects Six Directors, To Plan For 1934 Fair

Will Hold County-wide Meeting of Those Interested in the Fair and Agricultural Matters—Check Amounting to $1,000 Sent Out.

At the annual meeting of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, held at the office of the secretary, E. W. Hathaway, in Kingston, six directors were elected. Three of these were new directors to take the place of Sam Bernstein, Jr., resigned; Marshall H. Davis of Kerhonkson and C. G. Fischer of Ellenville, whose terms of office had expired. The new members of the board are: J. Gates Holcombe, Kingston; John J. Miller, Lomondville; Otto T. Mollenhauer, Rosendale. Three directors were re-elected. They are: H. V. Story, Ulster Park; L. C. Barnes, New Paltz; John H. Beatty, Kingston.

Secretary Hathaway presented his report on the annual fair, held at the new armory, Kingston, last August. He stated that while no admission fee had been charged, receipts from sales of space and entry fees had been sufficient to cover the actual expenses of the fair. It was agreed that despite the stormy weather which allowed the fair but one good day, the exhibition had been a success. It was stated that other communities in the state are taking an interest in the plan adopted in Ulster county of holding a simple agricultural exhibition, free of the customary side-shows and questionable entertainment features.

Plans were discussed for another exhibition the coming year, to be held probably at the same place as that of last August. It was also decided to hold a county-wide meeting of those interested in the fair and in agricultural matters, at which time plans for the 1934 fair will be discussed.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON.—Prof. Raymond Moley, on a visit to Los Angeles made some observations re regard to the political situation which interested here with interest.

At no time known as the chief of the Pres' de Gaul's "brain trust," Moley now has no official connection with the administration. What his major think or say, therefore, must be considered what it is meant.

He's not alone, however, over a subject which sooner or later will be very hot in the fore.

Before the Democratic Luncheon club of Los Angeles Moley asked that the conservatives and Hiram Johnson, progressive republican, who voted for reelection to the Senate last year.

"The democratic party of today," said Moley, "is not the party of 30 years ago."

"When the new democracy is complete I want to be in the party with Senator Johnson and Senator McMath. We must have many brave progressive republicans."

Sees Democrats Dominant

He predicted further that while, before long, the democratic party has been a minority organization, in the future it is likely to be the majority party in congress.

While Moley's plea mentioned

Johnson's speech, his reference to "share our progress" by republicans evidently refers to those others who are so inclined to assist the administration in getting its program through the Senate.

Young Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin is up for reelection next year. Bronson Cutting of New Mexico is also.

Both LaFollette and Cutting supported Roosevelt in the last presidential election. They went along with the Roosevelt program of the time during the year in session in the working out of his emergency legislative program.

Cutting was most used prominently at one time as being a possible cabinet selector. Roosevelt sought to persuade LaFollette to be a delegate to the world economic conference in London.

Cutting was most used prominently at one time as being a possible cabinet selector. Roosevelt sought to persuade LaFollette to be a delegate to the world economic conference in London.

WHAT will be the administration's attitude toward these men come general election time next year? Will the democratic national committee, headed by Postmaster General Farley, support a democratic candidate against them?

In Johnson's case there have been attempts to persuade him to desert the republican fold and run as an independent democrat. Those who know Hiram Johnson, however, find it hard to believe he would.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press

Fate Takes A Hand

Chicago—No one seems to know who the principal actor in this drama of life and death was.

He approached James Allport as the latter sat in a parked car and said:

"Shoot me master! I want to die." Allport drove away quickly, seeking a policeman. He found one. Together they hurried back to the scene. There the stranger lay in the street—dead.

A hit and run auto driver had given him his wish.

He's Doing It Again

Chicago—Maybe times are getting back to normal.

At any rate General Charles G. Dawes is smoking that famous underslung pipe again—the pipe that made so many persons sit up and take notice in the "hell and Maria" days when he was vice president of these United States.

Saved From The Elements

Pittsburgh—it was raining hard, and Willie Smith was making his way past the crowded doorways downtown, lugging along one of the city's shiny, new rubbish cans.

This aroused the suspicion of Police Officer Cyril Letzakus.

Explains Willie, "I didn't want to see it out in the rain. It will get all rusted."

So Willie got "the jug."

The junior class officers, who were recently elected, are as follows: Donald McCauland, president; Mary McManus, vice president; Edward Rocheford, treasurer; and Ann Ketchell, secretary. Tickets for the dance may be purchased from any member of the dance committee or any officer of the junior class.

Golden Jubilee for Monsignor McNichol

The Very Rev. Monsignor Francis P. McNichol, pastor of St. Catherine's Church at Pelham, Westchester county, will on Friday, December 22, celebrate the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood.

Monsignor McNichol was born in Kingston on October 26, 1859. He attended St. Mary's School, later attending the Grand Seminary at Mount Royal. He was ordained to the priesthood on December 22, 1883.

He was appointed as pastor of the church at Pelham by Archbishop Corrigan on December 4, 1897, and has remained there since then.

Owing to the Monsignor's recent illness the celebration will be a quiet affair, consisting only of a solemn Mass of thanksgiving.

Spanish Fascists Come Into Open

With Ex-Dictator's Son As Leader

By H. E. KNOBLAUCH.

Madrid (AP)—Fascism has sounded its battle cry in Spain and thousands of enthusiastic youths, no longer restricted to furtive meetings, are trooping openly under banners asking abolition of the parliamentary system.

A recent public mass meeting signalled the discarding of the cloak of secrecy which hitherto had shrouded the activities.

The triumvirate of chieftains, headed by Jose Antonio de Rivera, son of the former dictator, say they have high hopes of implanting a dictatorship by the spring of 1935.

Monarchs Join Movement.

Their organization, they explain, is not designed to be monarchial. But neither is it anti-monarchical and it is well known that many of the youths embracing the movement are adherents of ex-King Alfonso.

The order claims 100,000 members and is registered publicly as the F. E. (Falange Espanola) or Spanish Phalanx. Its members wear blue shirts and symbols formed of crossed arrows. The rank and file display armbands showing seven of these darts, all pointing upward, clutched by a closed fist. Variations of this emblem are worn by officers.

Violently opposed to the fascists are the "Escamotes," a military body of young Catalonians claiming 10,000 members. The recently staged a demonstration in Barcelona garbed in green shirts, shorts, long woolen stockings and white shoes.

"A typically Spanish fascism" is the aim of the de Rivera crew. They do not want to give the state the importance it holds under Mussolini and they are opposed to the anti-Semitic policies of Germany's Nazis.

De Rivera is Spark Plug.

The ruling triumvirate consists of young de Rivera, lawyer, writer, fiery orator, comparatively few of whose 31 years have been occupied with politics; Alfonso Garcia Valdecas, a former deputy and professor of civil law at the University of Granada, and Jaldo Ruiz de Alida, chiefly famed for having served as navigator in the plane "Plus Ultra" with Ramon Franco on the latter's westward trans-Atlantic flight.

Of the three, de Rivera is the chief inspiration behind the phalanx. Although it would be impossible for him

Jose Antonio de Rivera (center), head of a triumvirate which is crowning arrows form their symbol, insignia of officers in the organization. Monarchs, entertaining shadow XIII and his court, organizing a fascist movement. Those shown at right and left belong. Most of the youthful members to admit it for publication, his close friends say it is no secret he aspires to head a Spanish fascist state.

In his address at the first public meeting of the fascists in Spain, 100 per cent, and that by the spring of 1935 fascism will have reached its goal.

"Fascist leaders will," he said,

"have raised our banner and will defend it with our lives. We have no political program, but are resolved to bring justice and true liberty to Spain. We will not hesitate to resort to violence if violence is necessary."

Without a single exception, the stock you'll find here lives up to a man's ideas about style and quality, comfort, practicality, and value. You could dash in, select any article at random, and be dead-certain that it will be worn with appreciation and pride. But we're showing so many new, varied, colorful things that it will be fun to shop the entire store. So come early—and often.

CWA Workers to Get Hot Coffee on Cold Days

Kingston Post, Originators of Idea
Now, Is To Begin Service Today—
Coffee, Preparation and Money Being Given by Others.

The American Legion started to day its self-chosen task to furnish steaming hot coffee to the workers on the CWA projects at dinner time.
Many of the workers are unaccustomed to working out-doors in the low temperatures that have prevailed here recently and it is the intention to serve hot coffee during the half-hour lunch period to help warm the men and assist them in doing a good job.

Coffee for the first day has been contributed by F. B. Matthews & Co.
The coffee will be made by the hotel
chef in the kitchens of the Governor Clinton Hotel and rushed in containers by trucks to the different jobs.
The men on the jobs are asked to bring with them lunch containers out of which to drink the coffee.

It is the intention of the local Legionnaires to serve the coffee only on cold days.

The local post has underwritten
the cost of service for the first week.
However, in order to continue the coffee service it will be necessary for public support to come to their aid, as their own funds are limited by reason of the number of welfare cases among needy veterans which they are caring for. All former service men realize how warming, stimulating and satisfying a hot cup of "Java" is on a cold, raw day, and they would like to continue the coffee service throughout the winter.

Any citizen interested in this service may help the cause along by sending a dollar to Edward J. Hillis, treasurer of the American Legion
CWA coffee fund at the Ulster County Savings Institution.

The following have already contributed $1.00 to the fund: John J.
Finnerly, Jr., Meyer Kaplan, Henry
Forst, Morris Samter, Harry Merritt,
E. J. Dempsey, Daisy Dempsey, Herman I. Dubois and Conrad J. Heiselman.

Kingston Post wishes to thank F.
B. Matthews & Co., and Manager
Gross and the staff of the Governor
Clinton Hotel for their fine cooperation.

Talks to parents

Emotional Contagion

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
One of the difficulties of the present day freedom of children from inference and influence is that the independence which we have aimed for is not and cannot be possible.

It is not in the nature of human beings to keep their hands off the next fellow, especially if they can attain a feeling of power by their example or teaching.

The parent who sends his or her small child out to experience life in the world of his contemporaries must face the fact that the child will meet all kinds of children from all kinds of homes, and will inevitably have ideas put into his head which may or may not be desirable. In no case will he be left to follow his own road.

One of the most unfortunate features of the system is the over-sophistication of children who are scarcely out of the nursery, and should still be playing dolls or tin soldiers.

There is always some small girl or boy who will start the idea of "being sweet on someone," and like a disease the fever will creep through the class, until in self defense the smallest boys and girls will be casting sheep's eyes and writing notes.

Parents and teachers are sometimes not free of blame, for to many of them the picture of little children playing at being in love is "cunning," and they will talk about "your little sweetheart" and encourage their precocious sentimentality.

Up to high-school age it is far healthier for boys to look down on girls and for girls to scorn boys as nuisances. If they play together it should be as equals, with no quarreling or given. The time will commonly soon enough when both boys and girls awake to the fact that a complete world holds both men and women.

Y. W. C. A. Christmas Vesper Service

Picturesque Yuletide performances formed an impressive part of the Christmas vesper service held Sunday afternoon in the crystal room of the Governor Clinton Hotel under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Mary Howard acted as narrator telling the story of the various tabernacles. Miss Ruth Neal took the part of the Spirit of Christmas and lighted the Yule candle. The music for this number was "Sister Night," which she sang most effectively.

A Russian folk legend concerning a poor peasant woman and her son, king and shepherd following the star was given with Mrs. Charles Terwilliger as Baboushka, the three kings, Miss Ruth Bell, Mrs. Kenneth Parish and Mrs. Lovan Haver, the shepherds, Miss Bertha Waterman, Miss Edie Phillips, Miss Mathilda Martin, Miss Ruth Vandenburg, Miss Alice Gillette and Miss Janet Phillips. In the manger tableau Miss Ruth Smith was Mary, Miss Marion Phillips, Joseph, with the kings and shepherd grouped in the background. During this number, a "Christmas Hallelujah" was sung by Miss Ruth Neal with Mrs. Raymond Gross at the piano. The music for this song was written by Mrs. Gross and the words by Miss Neal.

The Schubert Choral Club sang a program of Christmas music "Bring a Torch," an old French carol; "Come Ye Fair ones of Holie Dayes" sung by a sextet composed of Miss Harriet Edelstein, Miss Ruth Neal, Miss Florence Wheeler, Miss Frieda Neberzahl, Miss Carolyn Port, Mrs. Thoburn Long. In the "Sailor's Christmas," Mrs. Carolyn Rich took the solo part, and in the "Shepherd's Christmas Song" Miss Ethel Schlecht was the soloist. The concluding number of their program was "Gaudete: Bambino" by Pietro Yon. The choral numbers, which were much enjoyed were directed by Miss Lou Kamp, while Miss Edna Morrissey was accompanist for the club and also for the tabernacles. The members of the Schubert Choral Club are Miss Helen Revere, Miss Harriet Edelstein, Miss Beatrice Elias, Mrs. A. B. Franz, Mrs. Vera Goetz, Miss Helen Greene, Mrs. Miss Jessie Hildebrand, Miss Helen Luther, Mrs. Thoburn Long, Miss Pauline Morris, Miss Ruth Neal, Miss Frieda Neberzahl, Miss Mary Pothegos, Miss Carolyn Port, Mrs. Carolyn Rich, Miss Ethel Schlecht, Mrs. Violet Smith, Mrs. Gladys Talcott, Miss Florence Wheeler.

The ceremonials were directed by Miss Jean Estey, and those assisting with the costumes and properties were Mrs. John Matthews, Mrs. George F. Rice, Mrs. Joseph W. Fowler, Miss Emily Hoyradt. Despite inclement weather, a capacity audience attended.

Rev. T. E. Murphy, S.J., Dead in Brooklyn

"WHITE CHRISTMAS" OBSERVED AT TRINITY M. E. CHURCH

The Rev. Thomas Edward Murphy, S.J., pastor of St. Ignatius Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, died Thursday night in St. Mary's Hospital Brooklyn, from pneumonia. Born in New York in 1856, he graduated from St. Francis Xavier's College and in 1873 became a member of the Society of Jesus and studied in Canada for a year. Returning to this country he continued his studies at Marquette in West Park, N.Y. Father Murphy was a former president of St. Francis Xavier's College and in 1895 was elected president of Holy Cross College, resigning in 1911. He will be buried in St. Andrew's-on-the-Hudson Cemetery, Poughkeepsie.

This year the service was unusually beautiful. The church was very tastefully decorated with Christmas trees and wreaths and red roses.

The pageant presented Joseph and Mary coming to the city of Bethlehem, seeking a resting place; the Shepherds making their visit to Bethlehem, and the Wise Men presenting their gifts.

Christmas hymns and carols were sung by the choir of the church. The illumination of the memorial window depicting the appearance of the Angels to the Shepherds added impressiveness. The pageant was rendered with a spirit of reverence, which made it a splendid preparation of heart and mind for the Advent season.

Before the classes brought their gifts to the platform, a candle light service illustrating the part of joyous giving was presented by seven young ladies under the direction of Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

The committee appointed by George Lowe, superintendent of the Bible school, to arrange for this service was Miss Mary Hall and Miss Eva Shook who had many happy helpers.

WEST HURLEY

West Hurley, Dec. 18.—The annual Christmas play will be given in the M. E. Church hall, Wednesday evening, December 20, at 8 o'clock by the pupils of the West Hurley school. By request, the well remembered hit of two years ago, "The Wedding of the Paper Dolls," will be repeated with new costumes. The program contains various recitations, vocal selections, musical numbers, a kiddie carnival, popular songs and a cow boy scene. Interposed will be a series of specialty numbers featuring the two popular tunes, "Get Along Little Doggie," from the Last Round Up and "Whose Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," from Three Little Pigs. Everyone is invited and welcome. The curtain will rise promptly and to avoid distraction all are asked to be on hand early.

Saturday, December 16, marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joyce. The village extends congratulations on their silver wedding day.

The first regular meeting of the Y. C. C. was held in the town hall. The purpose of this newly formed club will be to promote the social, the moral and the physical well being of the youths of West Hurley.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the M. E. Church was held at the home of Mrs. George Berry Thursday afternoon, December 14. This meeting was well attended and a large volume of business was transacted.

Mr. Buley is now a patient in a New York city hospital.

Mr. King accompanied by Mrs. King and daughter, have returned from a landscaping expedition in Central Valley. Mr. King is advocating the use of the living Christmas tree which serves a dual purpose.

That encounter between a new Plymouth and a slab of stone in the driveway of Nick Rowe's residence, turned out disastrously for the car.

The proximity of the holidays was the direct cause for the recent demise of the Rowe porkers.

The Y. C. C. senior five defeated Woodstock five at a recent basketball game held in the Athletic Hall, Woodstock.

Our visiting folks: Mr. and Mrs. Shurter and daughter have returned from Yonkers; Mr. and Mrs. Neubauer have returned from the Bronx; Mr. and Mrs. Spence and family of Red Bank, N.J., visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Smith; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McAuliffe, of New York city, and Jerry and Bunny Mahoney of Yonkers visited with Mrs. McAuliffe; Mr. and Mrs. A. Willy visited Mr. and Mrs. J. MacArthur.

Out of town reports indicate that in Brooklyn, Mrs. C. McDonald has recovered from the grip; from Lutherville, Md., Mrs. L. Brower's daughter-in-law is ill; from Indiana, the Twombly family is wintering in this state.

The little Avery boy is all but fully recovered.

Mrs. Wagner won the Bunko title and first prize at the Legion card party held recently in Woodstock.

SAMSONVILLE

Samsonville, Dec. 18.—The Ladies Aid held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Asa Barringer on Thursday, December 7. Mrs. Mary Moore, vice president, was the leader. After the business hour Mrs. Barringer served refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jessie Myers.

Mrs. William Chambers, who has been suffering from a boil on the side of her face, is improving.

The children are enjoying the snow by coasting down the hills.

Mrs. Eric Gundberg spent Wednesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Otto Barringer.

Irrin Barringer and Otto Barringer are among the CWA workers from this place.

Fred Haver and wife and Victor Beamer were business callers at the C. C. C. Camp at Boiceville on Thursday.

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

While the child of two to six remains true to pastels, the girl of seven to ten may be more sophisticated in her choice of colors. Taffeta has attained renewed style importance and appears not only in entire dresses but as trimmings.

An upstanding collar in taffeta adds to the style interest of a pale blue georgette posed over pink crepe slip.

Satin taffeta makes the dress at the right which has its epaulets and tie quilted in red.

Paris Reacts Against Un-Dinner Gown With Glove-covered Foreheads

Paris—Despite the increasing number of feathered and Russian hats which are being worn and which expose the entire forehead, Maria Guy, Roboux, Descat and other milliners are reacting against the uncrowned forehead for early spring wear.

The tendency is rather toward small Bretons or other rolled brims, worn tilted on one side, and made fairly shallow at the back.

TODAY

Kingston: What Price Innocence? and The Wreckers. The first production is one of those helpful treatises on why young girls are wrong, and for what reasons. The play attempts to show that both young women and young men should be told the facts of life, because innocence is dangerous in this world of sin and temptation. Willard Mack, Minna Gombell and Jean Parker are among the featured players in the cast. "The Wreckers" with Jack Holt and Dorothy Lamour is a story of domestic unrest, divorce, and the problem of rearing a child in a divorced household. Both Mr. Holt and Miss Tobin turn in capable performances.

Orpheum: "The Big Brain" and "Police Call." Comedy is the theme of the first offering, with George E. Stone, Far Way, Lucien Littlefield, Phillips Holmes, Lillian Bond and Minna Gombell, all featured in a sterling cast. It's all about a little fellow with big ideas. "Police Call" is fast and furious drama of crime.

drama that has plenty of excitement.

TOMORROW

Kingston: Same. Orpheum: "Her Bodyguard" and "The Rebel." Educated Love and Minna Gombell make a swell team in this story of a lady who felt the need of male protection, and who hired a tough gunman to live after her safety. "The Rebel" is a story of the Napoleonic period, beautifully played against the background of the Alps mountains, and nicely played by a foreign cast, with Vilma Bading in the starring role.

This morning about 7:15 o'clock a large B-Q Mack truck owned by the H. L. and F. McBride Co., equipped to haul 2,500 gallons of gasoline, overturned en route to Kingston approximately 150 yards west of the Stony Hollow viaduct.

The truck, driven by Frank Signor, left the icy pavement as Mr. Signor attempted to negotiate the curve near the Marie Meier road stand, slid over a three-foot embankment and lurched over on its right side. Mr. Signor turned off the ignition and made his escape uninjured through the open door.

So far as could be determined by a hasty examination the truck was not badly damaged. No glass was broken. A call was sent in by Mr. Signor to a wrecking crew. H. L. & F. McBride Co. is now the hauler agent for Catskill mountain distribution of Cities Service gasoline.

Astronomers Baffled By Wise Men's Star

Scientists—Seeking Actual Knowledge of Existence of Star of Bethlehem Say: Maybe It Was a Comet, a Comet-stallation—Maybe a Miracle.

Kingston, Dec. 18 (P)—It is a century and a half years since the real existence of celestial legend following the star of Bethlehem to the Orient. Most astronomers still believe in comet that heavenly body was a comet or comet-stallation, comet-stallation.

Friends of Philadelphiaans who belong to Franklin Institute's observatory, one of two operating in the city, saw the stars and the comet as they looked to the horizon on the hills of Palestine on Christmas Eve in the year 3 B.C. accepted by many scientists as the exact year of Christ's birth. They did see the star.

"What the actual star was that was seen by the Magi is hard to determine," said James B. Stodley, assistant director of the institute. "At that time a comet of great proportions might have flashed through the skies or a dark star might suddenly have blazed into brightness. These things, if this happened, would have left no record, and so cannot be checked."

It is known, another lecturer said, that a strange "conjunction" of the planets, Saturn, Jupiter and Mars occurred in the spring of the year 6 B.C., and the unusual brilliancy of their light might have been taken for that of a new star. If the Magi saw this, it might easily have taken them from spring until Christmas Eve to travel from their homes to the Holy Land, it was explained.

The best explanation of the star of Bethlehem is that it was a miracle," said one of the scientists, "and we have no right to try to explain miracles."

LOST LAKE

BY ANNE CAMPBELL

THEY called it Lost Lake when I was a child. Haunted with mystery, far-off and wild. We never sailed a boat upon its blue. Or fished for bulheads as the children do.

We never searched for trilliums, or found A violet near its enchanted ground. When winter came, we skated on a creek Far from its mystic surface, white and bleak.

Now that the trees are cut down like the years, Lost lake a sunny shallow pool appears. Where water lilies grow and cowslips lift Their heads to heaven for the rain's cool gift.

How many of my childhood terrors lie Exposed in this same way beneath the sky? Of wider vision! How the long years bring An end to senseless terror's whispering!

FRUITS AND OTHER THINGS

LET US not forget the value of fruits and vegetables in our menus.

Banana Supreme.

Peel, scrape and cut four bananas crosswise into quarters. Put one-half cup of nuts through a food chopper with four graham crackers. Mix with one-third of a cup of brown sugar, one-eighth teaspoon of nutmeg. Roll the bananas in this and lay close together in a buttered pan. Bake 20 minutes.

Maid of Honor.

Beat two eggs with one-half cup of sugar until light, then add two cups of cottage cheese, two tablespoons of cream, one-half cup of seedless raisins, one teaspoon of lemon juice, one tablespoon of chopped almonds. Put a spoonful of the filling into individual tart pans lined with rich pastry and bake in a moderately hot oven.

Apple Fluff.

Peel, core and cut up three large apples, simmer with just enough water to cook without burning. Soften one and one-half tablespoons of gelatin in one cup of water, then heat until well dissolved. Add the grated rind and two tablespoons of juice of lemon with one-third of a cup of maple syrup to the apples which have been previously put through a sieve. Cool, and when beginning to set, beat until light. Add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs folded gently into the mixture. Turn into a mold which has been rinsed in cold water and chill. Serve with a custard made of the egg yolks, or cream may be used as a sauce.

Poenta With Sausages.

Spirkles one and one-half cups of corn meal into a quart of boiling salted water, stirring and cooking for 20 minutes. Now add one pound of sausage meat which has been well cooked and broken into small bits. Stir it into the corn meal and pour into a mold to cool. Unmold, cover with tomato sauce and cheese and bake half an hour in a moderate oven.

New Havana Violence Brings Death to Six

Shooting Broke Out Yesterday With the Sacking and Burning of Cuban Newspapers—Spaniard Fired Through Night.

Havana, Dec. 18 (P)—Havana suffered six dead and 22 wounded yesterday in the capital's latest bloodshed and disorders.

More than five Spaniards were rounded up and taken to Old Cabana fortress during the night, charged with having participated in the outbreak.

While soldiers massed to prevent new violence, preparations were made to receive Jefferson Caffery, President Roosevelt's representative, who will pitch in where former Ambassador Sumner Welles left off in efforts to bring a settlement of Cuba's political strife.

Shooting broke out yesterday afternoon with the sacking and burning of the offices of the newspaper El País.

Soldiers did not succeed in restoring a semblance of order until nearly midnight. Throughout the night, occasional shots were heard.

A mob composed largely of negroes fired El País offices because they considered the Spanish newspaper unfriendly to the government.

Most of those killed and wounded were struck by bullets fired in indiscriminate shooting in and around the El País building after soldiers attempted to prevent the mob from entering.

Only one large daily remains with the damaging of the El País building. That is El Diario, published under threats from both government and opposition forces.

Louisiana Tornado Kills 4, Injures 19

Shreveport, La., Dec. 18 (P)—A fatal tornado which roared out of the southwest to break the Sunday quiet of a Caddo parish lumber camp and a plantation took four lives, injured 19 and caused heavy property loss.

The blast, so terrific that it stripped the clothing from individuals, killed a white woman and two negroes at the Grayson lumber camp, 18 miles west of here, and a negro at a soda fountain plantation, 10 miles to the north.

Relief agencies took charge of the stricken areas today.

Flying timber, debris and wreckage of houses caused pandemonium at the lumber camp, where 11 were injured. Camp buildings and mill property were badly damaged.

Dr. L. T. Baker, Dixie physician, who administered to the injured at the plantation, gave a vivid description of the tornado.

"The negroes were standing or sitting around their homes one minute and the next minute the storm had passed, their homes and possessions had vanished and they were wondering what it was all about. Three or four of the less seriously injured were stripped of their clothing by the winds and left stark naked."

Several cabins were blown away. This and nearby areas of Arkansas and Texas, felt rains of almost cloud-burst proportions.

No. 2 P.T.A. Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of No. 2 Parent-Teacher Association will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock, and at 3:30 there will be a Christmas party with a program presented by the children of the school. All parents are invited.

Turkey, Duck, Or Suckling Pig; Which Is Best For Christmas?

Commissioner Baldwin Makes Some Pertinent Suggestions For Yuletide Feasts

By CHARLES M. BALDWIN

Commissioner, Department of Agriculture and Markets
Albany, New York

IT has been the general custom in this country more or less to bacon pigs with either acid milk, "spread" ourselves in doing, returned to the shells and roasts at Yuletide. From the time heated in the oven, cost no more we fill the children's stockings to than a little extra labor and pre-time we sit down to the dinner.

While soldiers massed to prevent new violence, preparations were made to receive Jefferson Caffery, President Roosevelt's representative, who will pitch in where former Ambassador Sumner Welles left off in efforts to bring a settlement of Cuba's political strife.

Shooting broke out yesterday afternoon with the sacking and burning of the offices of the newspaper El País.

Nest in line in many respects, particularly for a smaller family, are ducks. Two ducks will provide for virtually the same number of persons as one turkey. Long Island ducks are famed the world over and are produced at our doorsteps.

A roasting chicken is suitable for a small family and gives the desired festive air to the feast. And surely we have the sanction of the ages for roast pork, hallowed by the use of the sucking pig of early England. So, if we may not have turkey or chicken or duck, let us have a roast fresh ham, eaten with a merry heart.

Meat, the most expensive part of the meal, is balanced by the low cost of appropriate vegetables grown in New York State, and therefore economical to buy. Baked potatoes, the pulp removed vide delicious variety. Creamed onions, turnips, celery, baked squash, all make economical items the dinner. And for the children, plenty of rich pure milk to drink and an inexpensive milk and egg dessert.

The Christmas Spirit

Above all, let us eat our Christmas dinner, whether it be turkey, chicken, duck or roast pork, with a remembrance of the love for humanity the event celebrates, in gratitude and gladness that the land in which we live is a rich land, "flowing with milk and honey," and that our own New York State stands preeminent in the variety and quantity of its agricultural and dairy products—and the quality of its service to consumers.

Steamer Rescues Four Men from Stormy Sea

Fliers Aboard Crippled Plane for More Than 20 Hours on Mediterranean, Picked up Today 80 Miles South of Marseille.

Marseille, France, Dec. 18 (P)—Four men who had been adrift aboard their crippled seaplane for more than 20 hours in the stormy Mediterranean were rescued at dawn today by the steamer Saint Marguerite.

The heavy snowfall which had hampered the visibility of four ships steaming blindly around the plane in the angry sea stopped during the night.

At daybreak, the St. Marguerite sighted the stricken craft at a point about 80 miles south of Marseille.

The cold and weary occupants of the plane were taken aboard along with the mail carried and the ship steamed for Dizerta, Africa.

The plane was abandoned.

All through Sunday and during the night, ships carried on a fruitless search for the plane whose frantic signals had been received.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Financial markets as a whole, failed to exhibit any importance today, following the rise of the domestic gold rate a few cents. Prices generally were firm. Beck sterling and French francs moved up around 4 cents and 45 of a cent, respectively. U. S. government securities ranged and corporate bonds were constant.

Extreme dullness characterized share trading. Atlas Tack dropped more than 7 points in addition to its 1 1/2 point loss Saturday. United Bag & Paper was off 2 and Allis-Chalmers 2. Other losses of fractions to a point or more included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Motors, Westinghouse, du Pont, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, New York Central, Case, U. S. Smelting, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and others. Auburn and Union Pacific were slightly higher.

Business and industrial sentiment, however, continued highly optimistic for the early part of the year. Trade reviews found that consumer response to Christmas offerings in all types of retail stores has been exceeding the expectations of many merchants who had previously turned a little gloomy following the let-down after Thanksgiving Day. Sales returns were said to be running substantially ahead of last year.

Some brokerage houses with European connections reported a moderate renewal of equity buying from abroad during the past week.

Small orders were said to have been received from London, Paris, Switzerland and Amsterdam. Purchases, it was said, have been exceptionally selective and more for investment than speculative purposes.

Another Close Call At Railroad Crossing

Truck Crashed Through Gates at West Shore Railroad Crossing as Train Was Approaching—Drove Off Track Just in Time.

There was a close call to another serious accident at the West Shore Railroad Crossing, 8 Gay Avenue Extension, between 41st and 42nd Streets Saturday night. A Brockway truck started on the roadway and crashed through the gates, sailing up the track just as Westbound Train No. 15 was approaching. The driver succeeded in getting the truck under way again and off the track before the train passed.

The truck was owned and operated by John Bernard Dausseau of Brockway Hill, Pa. He told Troopers Reilly and Metzger and Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg, who investigated the accident, that he was approaching the crossing when he saw that the gates were down and applied his brakes. The truck skidded, then rear ended swinging around and crashing through the gates, the truck stopping on the same track over which the train was approaching. He got the truck under way and drove off the track just in time to avoid being hit.

Fashion Declares in Favor of Gold

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WELL, anyway, fashion is coming out strong for the gold standard no matter what the rest of the world may be doing about it. Enthusiasm for gold in that keen in style circles that not only are accessories of golden metal being shown in countless numbers but for state occasions madly goes arrayed in shimmering gold from the crown of her exquisitely coiffed head to the sole of her daintily caned feet.

If you are dressing up for afternoon tea or an afternoon reception or a musical or whatever the happy event quite the most modish thing you can do is to enliven your best black frock with a dash of gold here, and there.

If there is one place more than another where the gold fever is spreading it is throughout neckwear departments. The most wonderful discoveries in the way of gold findings come to light there. You will see, for instance, perfectly fascinating gold lame, tissuelike weaves (in silver, too, if you prefer) fashioned into softly draped collar and cuff ensembles which set off even the plainest of frocks to perfection. You are supposed to wear these adorable fantasies with your crepe or velvet or light woolen afternoon gowns just like the young woman seated below to the right in the picture is wearing hers. Her draped collar is held in place with a rhinestone clip.

You can also get sets on this order which include detachable scarfs and bib effects and other equally fascinating accents which are spangled with scintillating sequins. There is nothing smarter for after five o'clock dress-up occasions than sequins. You can get the most charming little handbags worked solidly with sequins in gold or silver to match the bandings which outline the neck and sleeves or yoke effects of so many of the new velvet dresses.

CHARMING VELVETS GIVE COLOR TOUCH

The wool scarf has rivals in the new velveteens and corduroys, which come in the brightest of lacquer reds, billiard greens and sapphire blues, and which look very smart with rugged tweeds, and wools of the town and country types. Velvets and velveteens are printed in bold stripes and polka dots to give that colorful touch which today's sports costume demands.

Bright gloves, at first thought to be a mere whimsy of the Paris openings, are actually being seen where smart women gather. An all-black costume gains a new sophistication by the addition of a pair of bright red suede slip-on gloves. Bright green gloves are worn with dark brown, and vivid blue with gray.

Various Blue Shades Are Popular for Sports Wear

Rivalling the dark rich tones which are so smart for formal costumes are the various shades of blue which continue to be exceedingly popular for sports. Navies, gray blues, soft medium shades and purple tones are all being shown in tweed and knitted outfitts for casual wear.

Blue is a color which many women are becoming. Formerly limited to spring and summer wear, it is now an all-year-round favorite.

A typical sports ensemble is made of roguish diagonal wools which suggest a hand-woven fabric. The short jacket is double-breasted with notched lapels. The skirt has stitched-down pleats in the front.

Over this is worn a loose raglan coat of the tweed, in three-quarter length. The sleeves of the coat are slightly full, fitted in at the wrist with inverted tucks. A wide shawl collar of Beaver lends richness and warmth, and there is a luxurious pillow muff to match.

FORMAL WRAPS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Fashion is more enthusiastic than ever about rich velvet for formal wraps. There is no set rule as to how long or how short a smart evening wrap shall be. Daton creates the stunning little waist-length jacket here pictured of velvet in a deep violet shade. The voluminous sleeves are arranged so as to give a cape effect at the back. The other coat shown is full length. For this handsome mode Worth uses a superb novelty velvet in the new golden yellow, trimming it with silver fox. A choice diamond buckle fastens the gold metal belt.

Thief Takes Coat; Another His Pants

Lynn, Mass.—Marie Bellante reported to Lynn police that some one had stolen his pants. He said it was the second theft. The first thief had taken the coat and vest, but overlooked the trousers. Bellante doesn't expect the intruder to call again.

CHILD WIVES ARE FREED BY POLICE

Girls, 11 and 14 Years, Were Swapped by Fathers.

Oklahoma City.—Married and freed at the age of eleven, an American record for modern times, is the experience of little Dorothy Taylor-Halsell, of the desolate scrub oak district of Seminole county.

Living in a district where nearly all business is done by barter, she was "swapped" by her fifty-two-year-old father, Jim Taylor, to their sixty-seven-year-old neighbor, J. T. Halsell, for the latter's fourteen-year-old daughter, Cary. The two men married the two girls and went on a strange honeymoon, which ended when Jim Taylor poison himself.

The men were widowers and had been taking the girls out of school to replace their mothers in the kitchen. It was a wretched enough fate for the children, but not pleasant for the menfolk, either, who had to eat their cooking.

Although there is some dispute as to which man suggested it, both men agreed they needed wives more than daughters. The fathers felt it not necessary to ask their daughters' consent. The girls were informed of the arrangement, and though they protested bitterly, the wedding party was begun.

They obtained licenses by misstating the ages of the children and they persuaded a negro minister to marry them by laying a few shiny silver pieces on the table, even though he was suspicious about the age of little Dorothy.

The wedding night was spent in a tourist camp. All four slept in the same bed.

The honeymoon ambled on until one day another rattletop car appeared, containing Taylor's three sons. The youths had been left to run the farms but liked their own cooking even less than that of Cary and Dorothy. An all-night argument ensued, and the boys refused to go back.

The next morning Jim Taylor ended the debate, the honeymoon, and his own career by putting poison in his coffee. His death focused the attention of the authorities on the case, and Dorothy's marriage is being analyzed.

The dispute arose in a fashionable bridge salon between Miss Magda Fulop and Mrs. Anna Zarnoczy.

High words passed and Miss Fulop left the room. Later her "seconds" appeared and requested Mrs. Zarnoczy to give their principal satisfaction.

Mrs. Zarnoczy agreed and took some fencing lessons, as her antagonist is a well known sportswoman and very clever with the foils.

Then the women duellists met in a Budapest fencing room to fight it out. Reporters, photographers and members of Budapest society were present. But when the two women stood face-to-face they suddenly changed their minds, and, weeping, embraced each other.

AUTO CRASHED INTO HOUSE ON WEST PIERPONT STREET.

Saturday afternoon an automobile came down the West Pierpont street hill below School No. 2, and evidently skidded on the icy pavement and ran up over the sidewalk and crashed into the brick foundation of the residence of Mrs. Frank E. Carter at 123 West Pierpont street, driving part of the brick wall of the house out of place. The driver of the car, it is said, did not stop to see what damage he had done to the house, but backed off the sidewalk and into the road and drove away. The license number of the car was obtained and reported to the police, and further action is expected.

Rosendale Firemen Defeat Saugerties

Coming from behind in the second half, the Rosendale Firemen won at home Saturday night from the Saugerties Bigelow's whom they out-pointed by the margin of 38-21. At the intermission the home club was behind 15-18, but its concentrated drive in the last portion of the fray was too much for the Bigelow's, who found it difficult to follow the hose handlers, especially Gil Kelder, who cut loose to drop in eight fields and one foul for a total of 17 points, highest individual score of the game.

Behind Kelder were Niles and Merritt, who made six each for the Firemen. Rivener and Meyers turned in eight and seven respectively for the Bigelow's.

Spinnys Lose to Liberty Emeralds

Saturday night the Spinnys Fire of Port Ewen went to Liberty and bowed to the strong Emeralds by the score of 39-36 after making a valiant attempt to haul the contest out of the fire in the last quarter, which proved too late for the men of Alanson Short to overcome the big lead piled up by the home club in the early stages of the battle.

With Harkavy and Fox dropping them in from all angles, the Emeralds were out in front 22-14 at half time and continued to increase their advantage in the third quarter, using tactics that kept the referee busy with his whistle. Hank Krum, Van Etten and Joyce did the best shooting for Port Ewen. Johnny Zeeh, playing right forward in place of "Bum" Chilson, turned in a nice game for Spinnys.

Individual scores were as follows:

Spinnys—J. Short, 4. Zeeh, 4. Van Etten, 9. Krum, 10. Joyce, 7. Total 36.

Liberty—Harkavy, 13. K. Fiske, 5.

Hodge, 4. Fox, 12. M. Fiske, 7. Total 39.

Games This Week.

Tonight the Spinnys will travel to Goshen for a tilt with St. John's Big Five and Thursday night at their own court, Pythian Hall, Port Ewen, will oppose the Rhinebeck A. C. There will be no game at Pythian Friday.

Carl Hubbell Leads All In Poll of Sports Experts

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

The evidence continues to accumulate that in bright-eyed Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics, the national pastime right now is possessed of one of the really great batmen of all time.

The Maryland farm boy never will enjoy the personal following of Babe Ruth. Being a right-hand batter, he probably never will fashion as many home runs over a season's stretch as did the Bamboozle in his banner year. But for plain, ordinary slugging, day in and day out, the A's youthful first baseman needs concede little, if anything, to any man who ever faced a pitcher.

My friend Henry Edwards of the American League service bureau, who spends his spare time delving into such matters, comes up with the latest batch of figures to prove Jimmie's ability. Not only did Foxx lead his league in just about every branch of slugging, but his individual feats during the 1933 season included these various and assorted items:

Set a league record by driving in nine runs during a game. Twice made five hits in five times at bat. Led the league with a total of 13 bases in a single game; made 12 in another. Was the only batter in the circuit to make three home runs in one game. Hit two homers in a single game six times.

That isn't all Jimmie did, boy; it serves to give you an idea. No matter how many of his other high-priced workmen he disposes of between now and next spring, Connie is assured the nucleus of a potent offensive so long as Foxx is on his payroll.

Two Records Tied.

Other findings of Mr. Edwards disclose that both Sam West of the St. Louis Browns and Bob Johnson of the Athletics tied American League marks during the past season. West by polling six hits in six times at bat; one warm day and Johnson by scoring five runs in a single game.

Heinie Manush, who cut himself wide open in a world series game, and the reverberation was terrific, had still another distinction. The Senators' chief slugger matched Foxx's stunt of collecting five hits in five times at bat on two occasions. His youthful boss, Joe Cronin, made five hits once and four no less than five times.

Higgins a Corner.

A young man who appears destined to gain a high place for himself among the distance hitters is Frank Higgins, the Athletics' sophomore third baseman from the University of Texas and the Coast League. His name pops up with amazing frequency in the list of the year's notable feats.

Among other things, Higgins smacked five hits in as many times at bat in one game, drove across four runs in another contest, and enjoyed a perfect day in four times at bat with a single, double, triple and home run. He was one of only three to turn this unusual trick. He was one of ten players who rapped a pair of triples in one game.

Foresters Outscore "Y" Quintet, 49-31

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team, playing on its own court Saturday night, against the Boiceville Citizens' Conservation Corps quintet, bowed to the woodsmen by the score of 31-49. Malloy and Traphagen figured heavily in the win for Boiceville, while Whiston did the best shooting for the "Y."

Individual scores were made as follows:

Boiceville—Glenn, 8. Malloy, 14.

Cassels, 8. Zimmerman, 2. Shirrow, 2.

Traphagen, 13 total 49.

Y. M. C. A.—Whiston, 12. Post, 6.

J. O'Reilly, 4. Fuchsl, 9. total 31.

Score at the end of the first half, Boiceville 23. "Y" 13.

Score at end of first half, Rosendale, 18; Bigelow's, 15. Referee, Regan.

Richard Crooks Pleases Audience

A large and delighted audience crowded into the Community Auditorium last evening to hear the Metropolitan Opera Company, assisted by Frank La Forge, composer-pianist, at the piano, at the high school auditorium on Friday evening.

Here Mr. Crooks sang at the solo at a former Community Association concert in Kingston, a few years ago, it seems to have been, with him, a case of "To him that hath, shall be given, and he shall have more abundantly." While mentally congratulating Mr. Crooks on his success last evening, upon the great range he has made in richness and depth of tone, in the mastery of a larger form and style of music, one also felt glad when there came again and again those lovely tones, the tenderness and simplicity that stir the deeper emotions of memory and affection. Looking to the future one would like to feel that nowhere in the future will Richard Crooks, "the sweet singer," be lost. In Richard Crooks the famous Metropolitan Opera leading tenor.

Mr. Crooks was favored beyond words in having Frank La Forge, composer-pianist, to accompany him. He gave him a perfectly satisfying instrumental support and inspiration to his singing.

The program itself was a delightful one, with some treasures of song never heard before in our city.

Dr. Crooks chose for his group of opening numbers, selections from three operas of George Friedrich Handel, almost unknown today, yet still very lovely. They were "Selimia" from "Partenope;" "Alma mia" from "Floridante;" and "Tell my Beloved" from "Atlanta."

To many these were the songs of the evening, with their simple subtleties, if one may use such a paradoxical expression, calling for Mr. Crooks utmost legato, and direct musicianship of the artist who loves, understands and gives his best to the classics.

One of the most exquisite numbers of the entire evening was the encore to this group, "Have You Seen but the Whate Lily Grow?", the words of which were by Ben Johnson, written some time in the very early part of the seventeenth century, and the music by an unknown composer.

In the second group of songs, Mr. Crooks again chose to be unusual, singing four songs—"Der Neugierige," "Wohin?," "Trockne Blumen" and "Am Feirerabend" from Schubert's cycle of songs entitled "Die Schone Mullerin," giving the sentimental experiences of the miller's apprentice in love with the miller's daughter.

The audience showed its appreciation of Richard Crook's splendid singing of these songs by such enthusiastic applause after the "Wohin?", in which the lad tells his story to the brook, (sung with an ideal interpretation of the flowing rhythm of the sympathetic stream) that an encore was demanded and Mr. Crooks sang "Dedication" by Strauss. Again the audience was instant, and returning to "Die Schone Mullerin," the artist sang another of its stores, "Halt."

Once the audience had heard Mr. La Forge play they are disappointed indeed to see that he was to play only two piano solos, but they were equally glad that he chose a Chopin Nocturne for one of them. Chopin would have greatly enjoyed listening to Mr. La Forge Friday evening. The other number was "Ritual Fire Dance" by de Falla. It was brilliant—of course—and it was unusual and it was marvelously well played. And yet—well there were so many music lovers in the audience who would have given much to have had this master of the piano and its music play another of the truly great piano compositions. However the applause was most enthusiastic, and Mr. La Forge played a charming "Concert Etude" by Bothe, former teacher of his earlier days. Today the music is only in the mind of Mr. La Forge, all copies of the same having been lost in a fire.

After the intermission, Richard Crooks gave his audience the rare privilege of hearing him sing the aria, "Del Miel boliente spiriti" from Verdi's opera "La Traviata" just whetting their musical appetite to hear him in the Metropolitan Opera House as the leading tenor, whose charm of personality as well as splendid voice must make him an ideal operatic hero. Seeing how his listeners enjoyed his operatic performance, Mr. Crooks graciously sang as his encore, one of the loveliest arias from the opera "Manon" which he sang exquisitely.

In the last group of songs those in the audience—the great majority—who enjoy songs in English, had their special enjoyment, shared by all. It was good to hear the artist sing "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," by Moore, for he knows how to sing it to perfection. An encore to "Because" by Harboldt, Mr. Crooks sang one of Mr. La Forge's compositions, "The Retreat," an appealing song with quite a story as to its composition. The audience was so responsive to its charm that Mr. Crooks omitted the Schubert Serenade on the program and sang another of Mr. La Forge's compositions, a very appealing number, "Supplication." As the first encore to that song, the artist sang an aria from "Fedor." It seemed a very fitting finale to an evening of such altogether delightful music that Richard Crooks should sing as a second encore that incomparably lovely and loved Serenade by Schubert, the memory of which the audience could carry away with them to their homes.

The Kingston Community Concert Association is to be heartily congratulated in having brought to Kingston this famous artist, giving the people of Kingston the rare privilege of hearing, face to face, the great singer who is to most of Kingston music lovers, a loved voice over the air.

After the concert, Judge G. D. R. Haskwick and daughter, Miss Edna Haskwick, delightfully entertained as their guests of honor both artists, at their home, where many of the music lovers of the city were privileged to meet both Mr. Crooks and Mr. La Forge.

Christmas Party at Crosspatch Center

Crosspatch Community Center will hold its annual Christmas party Saturday evening, December 23.

The powers displayed in the neighboring post offices say the Christmas celebration will be given as usual. Those two words conceal a wealth of detail and effort. Mrs. Evelyn Cross, the "Crosspatch Lady" as she is often called, wasn't at all sure for some time that Santa Claus would be persuaded to come, but it was finally arranged and the jolly old fellow will drive his reindeer team over the mountain and across the brook and they will leap on Crosspatch roof with that jingling of sleighbells that the children all listen so eagerly for just as usual.

In a moment Santa slips down the fireplace into the secret attic and runs to the balcony and peeks over the top of the big Christmas tree to see all the children and a lot of grown-up too, eagerly welcoming him.

So Mrs. Cross helps him down the narrow, secret stairway and soon he stands before the big tree ready to bestow his gifts (which, by the way, he sends ahead by airplane). Then all the people march by him two-by-two, headed by the fiddle and accordion playing a merry tune and Santa gives to each one, young or old, a full Christmas stocking and a box of candy. Santa has been at Crosspatch every year for 12 or more years. So he knows his friends of mountain and valley and has shy questions and little jokes for many of them.

Santa doesn't stay long, for he is so very busy. He hustles away leaving Mrs. Cross to stand over a huge bag and see that each one reaches in "sight unseen" and pulls out the first thing his fingers touch. Dolls, autos, aeroplanes, trumpets, clowns, fire engines, all sorts of gay toys—and some very special ones this year that will cause lots of laughter—for you have to hold up your present and let everybody see it.

That finishes the first part of the Christmas fun; then there is dancing, all the good old fashioned square dances as only Walter Shultz and his orchestra know how to play.

No one pays any admission to Crosspatch. The Christmas party is given especially to bring a bit of joy and brightness into the dull, drab of winter life, and it can be dull and drab these hard times. The watchword is, "I am at peace with my neighbor" and the spirit of it is well Crosspatch house, adjoining the community hall, there are open fires and neighbors settle down for a good talk. Christmas is a great time at Crosspatch for renewing old friendships; for people come from far and wide, from little places tucked away in the mountains and from homes way down the valley.

This is the decision reported recently in Paris by Prof. L. Balthazard of the official committee of the French Academy of Medicine appointed to consider tests of death and rules to avoid living burial.

The committee finds that in many French communities a large proportion of deaths never are examined by any medical expert. The exact causes of these deaths remain unknown. Professor Balthazard and his fellow experts believe that only among these deaths due to unknown causes is there any chance for some one to be buried while still living but in some state of suspended animation. If a competent physician attends the patient before death and knows what disease or other bodily breakdown is responsible, the committee feels that there is no chance for mistake.

Since many French people still die without such medical attendance, the plan which the committee recommends is the appointment in every community of official physicians to examine every death certificate before burial is permitted and to inquire into the circumstances of every death the causes of which are doubtful.

So this year especially the Christmas celebration joins with the NRA in the hope of better times ahead and prosperity and the good life.

Crosspatch is near Willow, as very likely everybody knows, and while all are welcome to the quaint and lovely old-fashioned Christmas party.

Santa Claus began to say that his stock is not exactly unlimited, so it's the old neighbors and friends and their children first. Anyway it's always a lovely time. Mrs. Cross comes especially from New York city to give the party Saturday, December 23, rain or shine, snow or frost. Everybody is expected to have a lovely time.

PALENTOWN.

Palentown, Dec. 18.—There will be Christmas exercises given by the teacher, Mrs. Meyers, and her pupils, at the school house Friday afternoon, December 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Coddington of Mombacca were Tuesday and Wednesday callers in this place.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Oren Lee in the death of their infant son.

Oliver Gray and family were in Kingston one day this week, returning by the way of Kyserside and bringing little Shirley home, who has been spending some time with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Tanner.

Elmer Barringer called at John Traver's on Friday.

Edison Baker of Mettacahont and Owen DeWitt of Kerhonkson were supper guests at Wilson Gray's on Thursday.

Niall Van Wagenen and Jerry Decker of Tabasco called on relatives in this place Friday evening.

There will be a special school meeting Wednesday night, December 20.

Clothes 74 Years Old.

Colorado Springs—A Ridder, Colorado Springs resident, wears his old shirt and socks now of the time. Ridder is seventy-four and so are his shirt and socks. His grandmother made them for him the year he was born at Tiffin, Ohio, in 1858.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon B. Wager and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wager attended a supper at Mr. and Mrs. Alvert Wright's home in Oliverville. Thursday evening, given in celebration of Mrs. Edmund Wager's birthday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ingram and family of Oliverville.

Leander Minard was a business caller in Newburgh Wednesday.

Miss Ethel Losier has accepted a position in the Woolworth store in Newburgh.

John Newirth was business visitor in Newburgh Tuesday of the past week.

Mrs. V. B. Wager spent Thursday in Newburgh as the guest of Mrs. George Brasley.

Rehearsals for the Christmas entertainments to be held in the First Methodist Church and the schools are well underway.

Burning Tributes.

"Flattery," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chintz, "is the buzzing tribute which a bee pays to any flower from which it expects to extract honey."

Words From Anglo-Saxon Verb.

The words witty, wise, wizard, witch, wiflike, witness and wit, all developed in course of time from the radical Anglo-Saxon verb "witan," meaning "to know," still preserved in the abbreviated form employed in legal writing, "to wit."
